

Jesse Parker “Imagine” Scholarship

Jesse Parker imagined a world where each person would make a difference. He imagined a world with no greed or hunger, where people can share the world in peace. He believed we all had a responsibility to each other and he was committed to serving others.

Those who remember Jesse recall his ability to make people feel special, his easy smile, his wisdom, his kind heart, his silly pranks, and his steadfast protection of the underdog. He was guided by his faith and his insatiable thirst for social justice which he practiced through compassion and tolerance. He never needed the simple answers that made him feel good about who he was, he needed the answers that would make him know what to do to help others. He had the rare spirit and wisdom that could change the world, with the strength not to let the world change him. He planned to earn a Masters degree in engineering and then apply his skills in the Peace Corps bringing clean water to people in need.
